M'Carthy Asks For Phone Data

Flanders Takes Blast At Senator

WASHINGTON (AP)—The McCarthy camp contended today the Army has failed to produce all its monitored telephone calls, and Sen. McCarthy took a stand that without them none should be used in the McCarthy-Army hearings.

McCarthy said he had no objection to all monitored calls being put in evidence, even though "illegally taken," but objected to any going in unless all are introduced.

The Senate Investigations Subcommittee was at the point of a rollcall vote on a motion by Sen. Symington (D-Mo.) ordering the immediate introduction of the calls when Roy M. Cohn protested from the witness chair that all monitored calls had not been turned over to committee counsel Ray Jenkins.

Cohn, chief counsel to the McCarthy subcommittee, said transcripts of some calls he had made to Secretary of the Army Stevens and other transcripts which he regarded as "vital" to the McCarthy side were missing.

It was disclosed early in the hearings that a stenographer in Stevens' office, listening in on an extension, customarily took a record of talks the secretary had over the telephone.

Stevens said the purpose was to have a record so that any requests made to him by telephone could be handled expeditiously and with clear understanding of the request.

There has been an issue since as to whether the transcripts of talks with McCarthy and the senator's aides should be introduced in the hearings of his controversy with Army officials.

Power, Phone Lines Affected By Storm

The hard-driven rain accompanied by lightning last night and early this morning caused slight damage to electrical and telephone service in this area, officials of the Ohio Edison and Bell Telephone Companies said today.

What damage was done resulted from the wind blowing tops and limbs of trees across service wiring.

Raymond Stiver, plant chief of the telephone company here, said a tree top broke four wires on Route 14, just east of Millville, but service was restored within an hour.

A duplicate service on Sharp St. enabled residents there to have restored power within five minutes after a tree top electric wires down, Arthur Smith, district superintendent of Ohio Edison, said.

A number of individual power failures were reported in Leetonia during the storm.

About midnight the wind took a tree out in Negley and knocked out a number of services there. That line was restored by 4 a. m. this morning.

And on the Depot Rd. where tree limbs broke service wires, Ohio Edison repairmen had service restored within a half-hour.

Smith said he had about 35 service men out during the night.

Two Salem Boys Winners Of Mullins Corp. Scholarships

Ramon Pearson of 1116 Buckeye Ave., and Galen Beck, RD 4, Stratton Road, are among the winners of Mullins Manufacturing Corporation's six $1,250 scholarships at the University of Cincinnati. It was announced today by Harry M. Heckathorn, president.

Pearson is a 1954 graduate of Salem High School and will enter the University's college of engineering at Cincinnati.

Mullins each year awards four engineering scholarships and two business administration scholarships to men in Columbiana and Trumbull Counties, plus the school districts of Goshen, Greenford and Sebring.

Winners of the other engineering scholarships are John G. Klavuhn of East Liverpool, Robert Davies of Leavittsburg, and Ralph Leonard of Brookfield. Alexander Seifer of Warren earned the other business administration award.

Pearson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Russell D. Pearson, is the 10th Salem student who has won the Mullins' award in the past nine years.

Beck, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford A. Beck, is the first Goshen school student to win the award.

Selection of the winners is done by the University on the basis of competitive examinations, school record, and personal interview.

The students work toward their educational degrees under the University's cooperative plan. They attend school during the entire first year, and the scholarship awards are designed to pay most of the expenses for this period.

For the remaining four years, they alternate in eight-week periods between classes and actual work experience in Mullins plants. The work periods provide funds with which to pay school expenses.

Mullins has awarded scholarships to 39 young men in the two-county area. Of this number 22 are now in school or about to be graduated. Four graduates are employed by the company, six other graduates or students are in the armed services, and seven have dropped out of the plan.

Report On Financing Paving Given To Council For Study

Columbiana County commissioners have agreed to aid the city financially in the rebuilding of downtown State Street to the extent of $5,000, Councilman Arthur Hanna, chairman of Council's street committee, reported when Council met last night.

Hanna said the agreement resulted from the efforts of Councilman Herman Kniseley and City Solicitor W. J. Hunston who have conducted negotiations with Commissioners Walter Hunston and Galen Greenisen.

Presented to Council last night and subsequently referred to various committees for further consideration were three reports from City Engineer F. S. Barckhoff Jr. relative to the rebuilding of State St.

Cost Breakdown Shown The reports revealed that the city's total cost in repaving the street, moving utilities, installing a new traffic light signal system on State St. and "White Way" lighting on State St. and S. Broadway would amount to approximately $40,260.

2 Hurt When Autos Crash; Rock Hits Car

Two motorists were injured in one of four auto mishaps Tuesday.

The two were injured in a two-car collision on Route 45 at its intersection with the Palmyra Rd. two miles north of Ellsworth, at 2:30 p.m.

George Coates, 42, of RD 1, Niles, was treated by a physician for lacerations of the scalp and possible rib injuries. R. S. Komarnitsky, 53, of Coraopolis, Pa., was treated at Youngstown South Side Hospital for multiple scalp lacerations.

State patrolmen said the Komarnitsky auto, eastbound on Palmyra Rd. failed to yield the right of way to the Coates car traveling north on Route 45. Komarnitsky was cited on the charge.

Considerable damage was caused to the right side of a car driven by Loyal Pierce, 21, of McDonald, Pa., when a rock fell on it from a hill top on Route 30, a mile and a half north of East Liverpool, at 11:15 a.m.

A bulldozer, working on the hill in the California Hollow area where the state is relocating the highway, accidentally pushed the rock over the hill, patrolmen said.

A 16-year-old Youngstown youth was cited to Youngstown Juvenile Court after a sideswipe mishap on Route 9, two miles south of Lisbon, at 1:45 p.m. Tuesday.

Patrolmen said the youth, David Baxter, driving north, swung around a curve wide and sideswiped a tractor-trailer outfit driven by Franklin Splentzer, 27, of Canfield. Neither driver was hurt.

Autos driven by Frances Hill, 70, of Lisbon, and James Church, 71, of RD 3, Salem, collided on Route 45, two miles north of Salem, at 2:15 p.m. Tuesday.

Patrolmen said Church stopped to make a left turn and the Hill auto couldn't get stopped. A rear end collision resulted, Frances Hill was cited for failing to stop within the assured clear distance and for driving without a valid operator's license.

238 Security Risks Fired

Health Dept. Says 114 Subversives In Group

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Department of Health, Education and Welfare says that by April 30 it had fired or otherwise eliminated 238 security risks, including 114 suspected subversives.

The total, reported to Congress in testimony released today, superseded the Civil Service Commission's report last March that the department had uncovered 78 security risks.

The department also told a House Appropriations subcommittee that, in one 78-case category, about 40 per cent of those eliminated as security risks had been hired under the Eisenhower administration. The remainder, it said, were holdovers from Democratic administrations.

No Breakdown Given No breakdown was provided in this case, between suspected subversives and those removed for other causes. A security risk may be a person who drinks or gossips too much or is found to be unstable mentally.

A number of Democrats in Congress have protested that many such persons left government service voluntarily without knowing they were classed as security risks.

Secretary Hobby testified that the government's newest department, with about 1,000 "sensitive" jobs, has set up a special 35-employee office of internal security to screen the staff. She requested $285,000 for this office, as part of a proposed $1,600,342.00 budget for the department during the year beginning July 1.

In a formal memorandum to the subcommittee, the department said 10 "terminations" had been made in cases where the individuals' "files contained information indicating in various degrees subversive activities, subversive associations or membership in subversive organizations."

For the same reasons, 13 were suspended; 37 resigned under investigation when their files were known to contain unfavorable information; 53 more were "separated" in other ways under the same circumstances; and one was separated while unfavorable reports of subversion were being investigated.

The 124 nonsubversive security risks resigned under investigation or were separated on charges ranging from immorality to untrustworthiness, the department said.

Winds, Rain Cause Heavy Ohio Damage

By The Associated Press

High winds and heavy rains swirled through Ohio Tuesday causing widespread damage. One man was killed by lightning near Cadiz.

Roads and some train tracks were blocked by trees as the low-pressure cold front invaded the state. The storm was expected to pass out of the state Tuesday night with more calm weather forecast for Wednesday.

A near tornado lashed the area where Knox, Morrow and Richland counties meet. Power lines and trees were knocked out. The New York Central's Mercury between Cleveland and Cincinnati was stalled more than an hour by a tree blocking the tracks near Delaware.

Wind and hail caused serious property damage at Jefferson, Rock Creek and Orwell in Ashland County with Jefferson being almost isolated by fallen trees.

In Geauga County lightning struck and burned down a barn in Bainbridge Twp. A Cadiz man died from a lightning bolt. He was Alvie Merryman, 48, superintendent of the Harrison County home.

Lightning struck four Columbus homes. No one was injured and damage was reported as slight. Some sections of Columbus recorded 1 1/2 inches of rain.

Winds up to 57 miles per hour were reported at the Canton-Akron airport.

Sewage Project Approved By State

Mayor Dean B. Cranmer told City Council Tuesday that the revised general plans of the proposed enlargement of Salem's sewage treatment facilities, as incorporated in a report prepared by Malcolm Pirnie Engineers of New York City, have been approved by the State Department of Health.

The mayor also released the report prepared by the engineers. The letter from the State Health Department, signed by John D. Porterfield, director, stipulates that its approval is "subject to the condition that detailed plans of the proposed improvements shall be submitted to and shall have received the approval of the Ohio Department of Health before construction of the improvements is undertaken."

The state's extension of the sewerage permit granted the city—which will expire June 15—is contingent, the mayor said, upon the city's submitting to the State Health Department a detailed financing plan prior to the expiration date.

The mayor declared a special meeting of Council would be necessary in the near future to pass the financing legislation. He stated also that expert financial help would be sought in the preparation of the program.

$750,720 Cost Is Estimated By Engineers

Alternate Plan, With Second Plant, Would Cost $1,142,400

The needed improvements to Salem's sewerage and sewage treatment facilities to comply with orders of the Ohio Water Pollution Control Board will cost the city $750,720.

This was revealed today in the preliminary report of the Malcolm Pirnie Engineers of New York City, who were engaged by the Public Utilities Commission Feb. 28, to make a survey of the city's sewage system and submit recommendations for the needed improvements.

The engineering company offers two principal alternates:

(a) construction of a new sewage treatment plant on Stone Mill Run southeast of town; and (b) enlargement of the present treatment plant to handle the ultimate flow.

Financing Plan Urged

"Our investigations and studies," "have indicated the most economical and satisfactory method of providing needed present and future improvements to Salem's sewerage and sewage treatment facilities is to extend the existing interceptor sewer and improve the existing plant rather than to construct a new plant on Stone Mill Run, therefore, we recommend that the city authorize at once the preparation of plans and specifications and arrange for financing the recommended improvement program."

Concerning alternate plan "A," the report says, "Construction of a new sewage treatment plant and interceptor on Stone Mill Run to the southeast of the city, plus renovating of existing treatment plant would be the most expensive of the two alternates both in first cost and annual cost. The estimated cost, plus engineering and contingencies for plant and interceptor is $1,142,400."

In August, 1952, F. S. Barckhoff and Associates made a report to the city which recommended the construction of a new activated sludge plant on Stone Mill Run with a connecting sewer to serve the southeast section of the city and certain improvements to the existing plant.

Cost of the project as recommended by the late F. S. Barckhoff at that time was to be $600,084. This was to include $492,919 for the new plant, $102,267 for sewer trunk lines and $4,900 for repair to the existing plant north of Salem.

Alternate "A" Plan Under alternate plan "A" of the Pirnie Engineers, cost of constructing a new plant would be $367,000; a new interceptor sewer would cost $245,000; and renovation of the existing plant would cost $140,000, a total of $1,142,400.

According to the engineering firm, total annual cost of operating two sewage plants would be $134,199 compared to the $82,517 required to operate the single enlarged plant.

Breaking down the totals, the engineers cite $85,680 as fixed costs of the two-plant system, $6,010 in power costs and $42,500 required for labor and maintenance of the two plants.

Under the other alternate fixed costs would be $56,304, power $3,713 and labor and maintenance $22,500. In this comparison, the report states, it is assumed the project would be financed by 20-year serial bonds such that annual payments for interest and bond retirement would be practically equal each year.

Fixed charge in the comparison, then, indicates the amount the city must pay each year toward interest and bond retirement. Power, labor and maintenance comprise operating costs of the sewage treatment plant or plants per year.

Backing up its recommendation to enlarge the present sewage treatment plant rather than construct a new plant on Stone Mill Run, the engineering firm cites four reasons:

1. The site of the existing sewage treatment plant is comparatively remote from the city and from houses and is much more satisfactory as to space and nature of surroundings than the site for a new plant at Stone Mill Run.

2. A more economical usage of existing plant facilities is possible under the recommended plan.

Called Loyal, But Security Risk

Oppenheimer Banned From Atomic Secrets

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Atomic Energy Commission had before it today Dr. J. Robert Oppenheimer's plea for quick action on a special board's split recommendation to bar him from the atomic secrets he helped unfold.

The three-man security board set up by the commission found, after six weeks of secret hearings and deliberation, that the 50-year-old, "Oppy" is a "loyal citizen"—but too much of a security risk to bar him from the cleared-for-secrets status he lost last Dec. 23.

As disclosed yesterday by Oppenheimer's attorneys, the special board ruled 2-1 that the noted physicist and atomic pioneer had contributed to delaying a "concerted" start on hydrogen bomb development and had associated with Communists for years.

In a minority opinion, Dr. W. V. Evans, chemistry professor at Loyola University of Chicago, said of Oppenheimer:

"He did not hinder development of the H-bomb and there is absolutely nothing in the testimony to show that he did . . ."

The Oppenheimer attorneys, headed by Lloyd K. Garrison, said in a letter to AEC General Manager K. D. Nichols that allegations by the majority were old hat—charges which the commission had thrown out seven years ago.

They asked, on Oppenheimer's behalf, that the customary review by the commission's personnel security review board be waived. Instead, they asked the commission itself to take the case "under immediate consideration."

They asked permission to file a written brief by Monday and to argue at some later date before the commission, which must make the final decision.

Oppenheimer, now director of the Institute for Advanced Study at Princeton, N.J., could not be reached for comment. His office said he was out of town.

When Oppenheimer was suspended last December, many persons rallied to the side of the thin, chain smoking scientist.

Vice President Nixon called him "a loyal American" who should be kept in government work if not a security risk. Former AEC member Sumner T. Pike said he never doubted Oppenheimer's patriotism. Chairman David Hill of the Federation of American Scientists expressed "full confidence" in Oppenheimer's integrity.

Until suspended, Oppenheimer was a member of the President's Science Advisory Committee, a consultant to the AEC and adviser to the Departments of State and Defense and the National Security Council—although the board's majority report said he devoted only 2½ days to these tasks during all of 1953.

The two members of the security board who voted for suspension were Gordon Gray and Thomas A. Morgan. Dr. Evans argued Oppenheimer had been cleared of the charges in 1947.

"All people are somewhat of a security risk," he asserted, adding that Oppenheimer was no exception, but that:

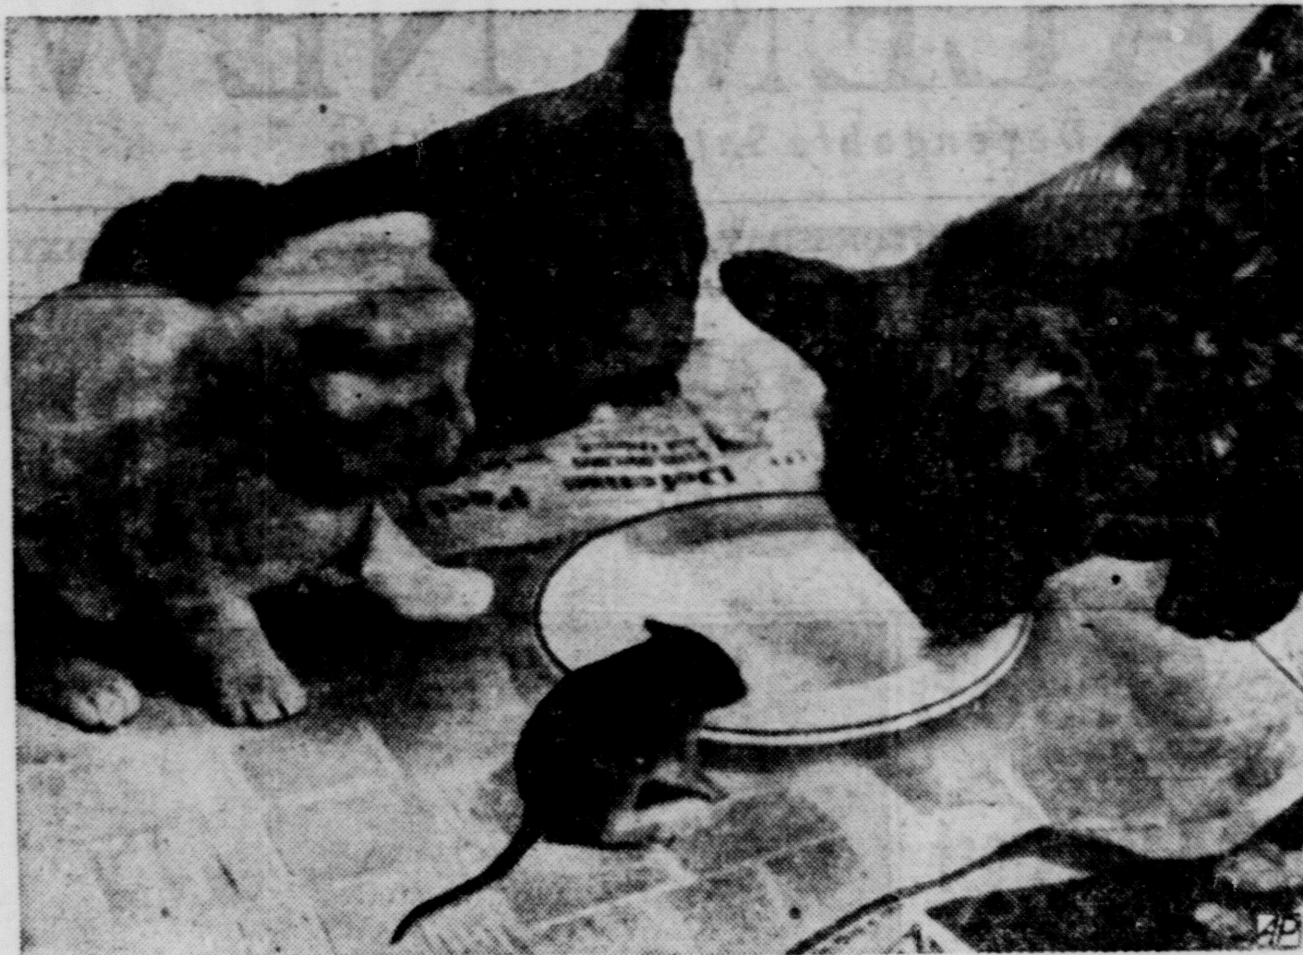

"I personally think that our failure to clear Dr. Oppenheimer will be a black mark on the escutcheon of our country."

Gray, former secretary of the Army and now president of the University of North Carolina, joined with Morgan, former president of the Sperry Corp., in "a clear conclusion" that Oppenheimer "is a loyal citizen."

Nevertheless, they said, they could not recommend Oppenheimer's reinstatement because of these four "controlling" considerations:

1. A "serious disregard" by Oppenheimer for security requirements.

2. "Susceptibility to influence" which could hurt national security.

STRANGER AT THE TABLE—This mother cat not only tolerates a baby rat but permits it to feed with her kittens in the Flint, Mich., home of Mrs. Lawrence Miller.

3. "Disturbing" conduct toward the H-bomb program.

4. Lack of candor by Oppenheimer at times during the board's hearing, such as in discussing the extent of his opposition to the H-bomb program.

Among early reaction to the board's recommendation was a statement issued by the Atomic Scientists of Chicago last night. They called it "unfortunate . . . disturbing . . . frightening."

The 3-page report filed with the commission by Gray and Morgan dealt with 24 charges, apparently investigated by the FBI, against the scientist who was in technical charge of creation of America's—and the world's—first atomic bomb.

Twenty-three of the charges alleged such things as this: that Oppenheimer loaned his name to Communist fronts, contributed hundreds of dollars toward Communist causes, admitted belonging to practically every Communist front on the West Coast, was the husband of a onetime party member and the brother of another, associated with such West Coast Red leaders as Steve Nelson.

The 24th charge accused him of opposing in 1949 the development of the H-bomb on moral and technical grounds and, after the project was launched, continuing to oppose it.

Sues For $1,000; Says Water Damaged Property

Mary A. Redinger of 1872 E. State St. has sued Mr. and Mrs. Virgil F. Wilson of 840 W. Pershing St. for $1,000 for water damage to her property.

The Wilsons, Mrs. Redinger claims, changed the elevation of their land in 1949, causing water to flow onto her property, especially during rain storms.

Water has caused the cement floor up her chicken coop to crack and has flowed into her garage, the plaintiff said.

She also claims the Wilsons encroached on her property when they built their driveway, uprooting a fence post and disturbing a surveyor's marker.

Plan To Police Truce Is Studied

Would Give Non-Red Nations Top Hand

GENEVA (AP)—Western leaders at the Far East conference studied a possible proposal today to give non-Communist nations the major role in supervising any Indochina cease-fire. The United States was reportedly determined that no Red nation should serve on such a group.

First reports said the Western delegation chiefs were discussing possibly a nine-nation commission—India, Pakistan, Ceylon, Indonesia and Burma as Asian members, Sweden and Switzerland as neutrals, and Poland and Czechoslovakia from the Communist side.

But informants said later today that the U.S. delegation, while it has no formal proposal of its own ready now, was convinced that a Soviet satellite can not be neutral and therefore cannot serve on any neutral supervisory commission.

These sources said that the United States, as far as possible, wants to see the Asian nations policing their own backyard.

The American delegation, it was learned, completely rejects the Russian proposal Tuesday for a supervisory group made up of India, Pakistan, Poland and Czechoslovakia.

Informed sources said if the Western diplomats could agree on a plan for a commission dominated by Asians, they would submit it to the nine-power Indochina parley as a counter to the Russian proposal.

Western experts felt there was little chance the Reds would accept such a proposal, but backers of the plan felt it would have a powerful propaganda impact on the Asians.

They considered it would give a telling answer to Red Chinese Premier Foreign Minister Chou En-lai's "Asia for the Asians" demand by putting the Communists in the awkward position of rejecting a body made up largely of Asians.

It was not known whether the Western Powers would be ready to submit the plan at the resumption today, after a one-day recess, of the full secret sessions on Indochina.

Also on today's program at the Palace of Nations was the first meeting of high-level military representatives of the French and Vietnamese commands in Indochina to begin discussions on regrouping the rival fighting forces if a cease-fire agreement is reached.

Arrangements for the military talks between Gen. Henri Delteil for the French and Ta Quang Bui, Vietnamese vice minister of defense, were worked out at a meeting of lower level representatives yesterday.

With the military and political phases being developed side by side, Western delegates hoped to know by the end of the week whether there is any chance of ending the Indochinese war.

Joke on Wife Backfires, Man Nearly Loses Eye

PORTLAND, Maine (AP)—A domestic joke backfired and he nearly lost an eye, Robert G. Forbes, 69, told a divorce court yesterday.

He testified he played drunk to fool Mrs. Mildred Forbes, 55, his bride of six weeks.

He quoted his bride as saying: "I'll teach you to come home drunk."

Then, Forbes said, she hit him on the eye with a whisky bottle.

Memorial Day Rites Held In Hanoverton

HANOVERTON — About 200 persons attended Memorial Day services held at Grove Hill Cemetery Sunday. The parade led by the Drum and Bugle Corps of the Lepine Rush American Legion post, included its auxiliary, Boy and Cub Scouts, and school children.

Past Commander of the Legion introduced Daniel Moser and Charles Waddell, Spanish American War veterans. Lynn Clewell delivered the Gettysburg address.

A quartet composed of Harry Reeder, Richard Neal, Michael Kupinski and Arthur Kibler sang several numbers.

Rev. A. Laten Carter of the Salem Presbyterian Church was the speaker. A volley sounded over the graves.

Lightning Hits Jenkins' Home, Starts Small Fire

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—Lightning struck Ray Jenkins' home yesterday during a storm, causing slight damage to the breakfast room. Jenkins, special counsel in the McCarthy-Army hearings, and Mrs. Jenkins are in Washington.

Firemen said the bolt ignited a small electric appliance, which in turn set the curtains on fire.

We Learn As We Go

Sen. Kefauver is the latest to volunteer an opinion that Congress should correct some of the impressions made by its investigations.

His opinion, part of a collective opinion by 18 Democratic senators, has special weight. It was the Senate Crime Committee, when Sen. Kefauver was chairman, that first demonstrated the wallpaper in a televised hearing.

In that case, the wallpaper did not boomerang.
It was delivered directly against vice lords
and racketeers and sparked off a national campaign to whittle them down to size. Kefauver became a presidential candidate and his committee's chief counsel, Rudolph Halley, became a New York City official.

But in the case of a hearing like the one being conducted by the subcommittee temporarily headed by Sen. Mundt to pin down the differences between the Department of the Army and Sen. McCarthy and his staff, the wallpaper is not being restricted to its original purposes. It is boomeranging.

It has been hurting the prestige of Congress.
It has raised doubts about the official dignity of certain executive officers. It has generated more heat than light in the minds of many citizens. And it has raised the question of whether or not this is the proper way to settle
a public question.

In the court of public opinion, few holds are barred. Awareness of this explains why so many members of Congress have been talking about setting up code of fair conduct if investigations are going to be televised.

Otherwise, the public may get some distorted impressions. Even newsmen covering the Army-McCarthy hearings have been accused of skul-duggery by critics who got their impressions from television sets. One of these, Ed Creagh of Associated Press, has pointed out that when he wrote, "McCarthy roared . . ." he was accused of prejudice because on television McCarthy did not roar. However, the sound engineer had modulated the volume. Creagh was there.

We learn as we go. Television is a new medium for conveying impressions of public proceedings. When the Army-McCarthy hearings are over, Congress will know more about television than it knew when they began.

Best of The Best Sellers

The death of Jacob Kay Lasser in New York City this week ended a career which was made unique by an American oddity.

Lasser was an outstanding expert in the field of federal taxation. But his field of competency as a tax expert was no larger than that of a thousand others who had shown unusual aptitude for this specialized knowledge.

What made Lasser different was his ability to explain what he knew in a way which made it understandable to others who needed to know the same things. The 1946 edition of his "Your Income Tax" sold seven million copies.

The famous handbook was revised each year
as Congress piled on more complications and tax collectors added to the welter of rulings
which make federal taxation a financial Everglades for the unskilled. Even so, it was adequate only for taxpayers with lives simple enough to be reviewed for tax collectors without the help of lawyers and accountants.

These simpletons are grateful to Jacob Kay Lasser, who did what few people seem to know how to do any more—make simple that which has been made needlessly complex by muddleheads.

One Man's Word

A Cleveland grocer is insisting that two admitted former Communists should submit to a lie detector to test their accusation that he, too, once belonged to the party. He has a valid point.

He is subject to deportation if their accusation sticks. They should be willing to go through the formality of letting their good faith be submitted to the only available test. The man they have accused already has taken a lie-detector test.

Former Communists who have turned in-former have made a good thing out of the national drive to purge the United States of subversives. Some of them have no means of support other than the fees they are paid for testifying under oath that when they were Communists they knew, as fellow members of the party, certain persons under accusation as possible subversives.

The irony of their informing is that their unsubstantiated word should be taken for a matter of the utmost gravity when the very fact they have confessed to being former Communists is evidence of former bad faith. The lie detector is not absolute verification or absolute reputation of a man's word.

But it should be as easy for a former Communist who had turned informer to submit to a lie-detector test as for former and current Communists to stand on the fifth amendment to the Constitution when they do not want to tell the truth.

France Swings To EDC

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Indochina Crisis Shocks Nation Into Action

American politics and French politics may differ in subject matter, but they are much the same as one sees arrayed on one side
the partisan politicians, with their intrigues of personal ambition, and on the other the earnest individuals who sincerely want to serve their country with policies in the national interest.

Just as the question of whether America should or should not intervene in Southeast Asia causes
members of congress to put a partisan twist to their comments, so in France, the whole Indochina problem is deeply immersed in party politics.

What's more, many of the members of parliament who are attacking the cabinet on Indochina policy actually have been using that issue as a means of weakening the efforts of the present cabinet to secure the ratification of the European Defense Community
agreement so much desired by the United States.

It is not necessary, however, to analyze the many cross-currents of French politics to realize that, as in America, the people are often way ahead of their Congress and the executive. So also here the people of France have in the last two weeks shown that they are far ahead of all the partisan politicians in their concept of what is the true national interest.

IN THE RECENTLY held special elections the people have elected candidates who were outspokenly in favor of ratifying the European Defense Community agreement—something that so many members of parliament have opposed on the assumption that the voters didn't want it.

Also, the reaction to the defeat
at Dien Bien Phu has been exactly opposite to what was being generally predicted—namely, that France's effort to fight further in Indochina would collapse and a peace at any price would be accepted at Geneva.

Maybe the tide was turned by the fact that 100 Communist deputies sat silently in their seats while the rest of the Parliament rose in tribute to the French soldiers who had defended Dien Bien Phu so heroically.

Certainly the French people were shocked by the discovery that they had in their own parliament
so-called Frenchmen who were really playing the Communist game. Ever since that incident
there has been a noticeable change
all around. The French Cabinet stiffened in its approach to the problems of Geneva and gave Foreign Minister Bidault strong support in his search for an honorable armistice. This was backed up by the call of 80,000 draftees to the colors for service in Europe and North Africa so as to release about 30,000 more trained regulars for Indochina.

Likewise, the cabinet took the very bold step of consulting Marshal Juin, who was recently reprimanded for his remarks against

the European Defense Community agreement. It is evident that past grudges are being laid aside. Most of the French parties are rallying to the defense of something bigger than any single man or party—the honor and prestige of France.

It is to be noted also that the opposition leaders have changed their tone somewhat and seem dis-inclined now to upset the Laniel Cabinet. This is based on a fear of more serious consequences if Geneva negotiations are bogged down by a French cabinet change.

IT SHOWS ALSO the political sagacity of the French politician who thinks it is best for an outgoing government to deal for a while longer with a delicate and messy situation and for a new cabinet to take over only when the critical phases are out of the way.

As far as the European Defense
Community agreement is concerned, ratification looks more likely than it has in a long time. Partly this is because the Socialist party congress has voted not only to support it but also to impose "discipline," which means in American political parlance imposing a caucus rule that binds all members to vote as the majority does.

Nearly half of the Socialists had publicly opposed EDC before. It's a kind of "unit rule," familiar to American national political conventions. Since the socialist strength in Parliament is substantial, hopes for ratifying EDC are rising.

As one surveys the French scene, it seems obvious that even if the EDC agreement had not been sponsored by America, the French people themselves would in time
have clamored for just such a solution.

IF THE PEOPLES of the continent did not want to defend themselves, why should American divisions be stationed in Europe and risk annihilation? That's the basic issue, and sooner or later the French people would have come to see the wisdom of the plan from their own standpoint, just as the West German government has already recognized it by giving the agreement its approval.

If EDC should fail, the alternative would be immediate admission of Germany into the North Atlantic Treaty Organization. This would mean a national army for Germany, and the French don't want to see that happen any more than do the German Socialists who are so antagonistic to anything like a revival of militarism.

The EDC agreement provides for a combined army that no nation will dominate.

The plan has many flaws and handicaps, but in the current situation it is better to take the project
as it is and amend it later than to confront the Communists with disunited or disorganized military ingredients when the need is so urgent for solidarity and military coordination and efficiency as a deterrent to aggression.

Horticulture Confession

By TRUMAN TWILL

Ten years ago, I was winning
World War II with a rake and hoe.
It was my only direct contribution to the national war effort. I was a Victory Gardener.

The scene of my gardening was 30 to 20, divided by a concrete sidewalk which bridged the fertile plain and connected the back yard with the garage. This sidewalk enabled a gardener to pick tomatoes from a firm footing. It was the most successful feature of the garden.

On it flourished purslane, or pig weed, the best crop grown on my 600 square feet of good earth.
When the pig weed was laid out
there to die it took on new vigor
and grew mightily.

In 1944, a banner year for my Victory Garden, I raised six stalks of broccoli. That also was the year we ate the peas. By harvesting the entire pea crop at one swoop we got enough new peas so that, mixed with canned peas, you could not tell the difference from genuine canned peas.

The garden also produced string
beans with extra - strong strings, lettuce, carrots and peppers. For 600 square feet it was quite a garden. I worked on it all summer. It was a challenge.

I am not a Victory Gardener any more, although the way things are going I might have to revive the role. If it ever happened, that 600 square feet of hand-weeded garden
would seem as puny as a blockbuster alongside an H-bomb.

My garden this year contains 7,000 square feet—and all told is not going to need as much time as the 600-foot Victory Garden. Except for a strawberry patch that needs endless weeding, the entire layout is taken care of without handwork.

It is a microcosmic revelation of the impact of mechanization on the production of food. The corn, beans tomatoes, lettuce and melons it produces are no better than they used to be when raised by hand.
The land is not appreciably better than it used to be. But the time once required to create and maintain a suitable environment for growth has shrunk from days to hours.

Gardening for food production
has become a pastime instead of a chore for back-yard producers.

This is the result of the same revolution which can be observed on farms, plantations and ranches
throughout the United States—the revolution which has substituted internal combustion engines for the bunching of human muscles and the leverage of human bones.

It will take men a generation or two to get out of the habit of talking as if they were martyrs in the services of the vegetable kingdom.
But they aren't. They are masters of devices for relieving human drudgery.

If a horticultural confession is in order, I don't see enough work ahead in a 7,000 - square - foot garden this summer to worry about. I may have to take up strawberry - patch weeding to kill time.

Orloff vs. Willoughby

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

In all the discussion of the Peress case little has been made of the decision of the United States Supreme Court in the case, Orloff v. Willoughby.

Sokolosky United States and those acting under his authority.

The case was decided on March 9, 1953 and could have been a guide to the Army in the matter of Major Irving Peress, over the disposition of which the Mc-Carthy-Stevens hearings are being held.

Stanley J. Orloff is a physician who was lawfully inducted into the Army under the doctor-dentist draft, Orloff was not given the specialized duties nor the commissioned rank to which he claimed to be entitled. Orloff, like Peres, was put into the Army under the Universal Military Training and Service Act which authorizes the conscription of certain medical and allied specialist categories.

ORLOFF MADE the point that he could only be inducted as a doctor and that if the Army did not choose to use him as such,
he ought to be released from any military duty. He swore out a writ of habeas corpus against Col. Rex
E. Willoughby, commandant of Fort Lawton, Seattle, Washington.

The Court stated, in a decision
written by Justice Robert Jackson:

"This petitioner refused information as to his membership
in or association with organizations designated by the attorney general as subversive or which advocated overthrow of the government by force and violence. He gave as his reason that 'as a matter of conscience, I object to filling out the loyalty certificate
because it involves an inquisition

into my personal beliefs and views. Moreover, the inquiry into organizational affiliations employs the principle of guilt by association, to which I am vigorously opposed. Further, it is my understanding that all the organizations were listed by the attorney general without notice or hearing which has caused the Supreme Court to invalidate it."

THIS IS EXACTLY the same situation as the Peress case, but it was handled differently. I quote further from the decision of the Court:

"As to the question 'Are you now or have you ever been a member of the Communist Party,
U.S.A. or any Communist organization?' He (Orloff) said, 'Federal constitutional privilege is claimed.'"

Further the Court said:
"The petitioner appears to be under the misconception that a commission is not only a matter of right, but is to be had upon his own terms."

The Army had the Orloff v. Willoughby decision before it when the Peress case arose and became an issue between the Army and the McCarthy committee.

The Army could have used the decision in Orloff v. Willoughby in the Peress case and there would have been no controversy, because the attitudes of Orloff and Peress toward loyalty questions were identical. The court said:
"But, if he is the first to be denied a commission, it may also be that he is the first doctor to haggle about questions concerning his loyalty . . ."

THE SUPREME COURT held
that it was not its view that Orloff himself could decide upon his own fitness. It held:

"It is argued that Orloff is being punished for having claimed a privilege which the constitution guarantees. No one, at least no one on this Court which has repeatedly sustained assertion by Communists of the privilege against self-incrimination, questions or doubts Orloff's right to withhold facts about himself on this ground. No one believes he can be punished for doing so.

"The question is whether he can
at the same time take the position that to tell the truth about himself would incriminate him and that even so the president must appoint him to a post of honor and trust. We have no hesitation in answering that question 'No.'"

I have quoted enough from this decision to indicate its applicability to the Peress case. Why was it not applied? Why was he promoted from captain to major and given an honorable discharge and the entire country thrown into the turmoil of the McCarthy-Stevens hearings?

If the entire question is not political, why was not this decision applied rather than to have the current fracas? An explanation is needed.

U. S. State Dept.

By RAYMOND MOLEY

One of the most grotesquely
overgrown administrative outlets ever seen on the American continent was the State Department headed by Dean Acheson. Trumping the fat off this monster has been a slow, persistent process by Donald B. Lourie, undersecretary for administration. But after 16 months he is able to report substantial progress.

Plenty more cutting is needed,
but there is reason to assume that past progress will continue.

Back in those days—called by some primitive and benighted—
when T.R. was President and the distinguished Elihu Root was secretary of state, that department got along with a very few hundred employees.

Charles Evans Hughes in 1922
made a brilliant record with 631.
Roosevelt and the Neal raised the number to only 963 in 1938. But with war the staff began to grow.
It was 2,755 in 1943 and 7,623 in 1946.

Administrative chaos overwhelmed the department after the war because there was summarily dumped therein a mass of personnel from some of the jerry-built war agencies for getting and giving information, for meddling in international economic affairs, and for setting up new international bodies.

MUCH OF this personnel was unscreened, untrained, and non-descript. It had seemed in the war that every economist who could not find employment elsewhere,
every broken-down newspaperman, every burning youth who wanted to reform the world and also escape military service had gotten jobs in the various emergency agencies.

There were in this piebald host,
moreover, some who had more sinister purposes. They were subversives responsive to alien ideologies and direction.

The total on the State Department payroll mounted to more than 40,000 and remained at substantially that level throughout the Truman-Acheson era. Dulles inherited 42,734. For months, the paring-down went slowly. On last June 30th, however, the number was reduced to 38,990.

Then in August an executive order lifted out of the department no less than 16,750. These were people connected mainly with two functions that should never have been in the department, the Point Four program and the so-called information service, including the Voice of America.

The department proper was,
after this executive order, left with 23,414. This group, of course, was by no means a "career service."

THERE HAVE never been more than a few hundred genuine career officers. Merely to cover with civil service requirements is not to create career personnel. It may, as has been the case with every administration since the Civil Service Act was passed in 1883, merely be the process of freezing political hacks into their jobs.

Lourie and others went resolutely to work after the August transfers and by the end of October
had cut the department to 20,508.

After that cut, progress was slow. According to the monthly reports on government by the in-debtigable Sen. Byrd, there were on the State Department payroll
at the end of March this year 20,145. There were serious questions asked in the hearings of the House Appropriations Sub-committee about some of these.

It appears that we not only have a considerable staff of people un-

Those Commercials

A poll shows many people blowing their stacks over the radio and TV commercials.
"Irritating," "insufferably repetitious," and "frightfully stupid" are some of the terms applied. Good in this corner folks. And stronger language than this is used in our neighborhood when many of the sales plugs come on. The sponsors spend big money and are entitled to a sales pitch, but they are making a good many potential customers
sore. Not a few leave the TV room screaming.
"There oughta be a law!"

A few kind words for a product are all right,
but they should be in a spot where the entertainment won't be irreparably ruined by them,
and they needn't be quite as long as a budget message. And those jingles and marching figures!

Would any smart salesman ring down the curtain of a gripping Broadway drama and start yodeling a Mother Goose rhyme boosting a catsup? Can you picture any smart businessman interrupting a concert at Carnegie Hall
to do a Kelly Zouave drill, stand on his head and go into a sales talk beginning, "Yes, if you want true contentment?"

Does a Fuller Brush man yodel an irritating limerick before knocking on the door? Does the corner butcher tout a sirloin steak as if glorifying the beauties of the Taj Mahal?

Who do merchants using TV and radio think they have to go to such extremes? They wouldn't ride horseback into a family house party and halt everything in order to bellow
the virtues of a soap, shaving cream, hair oil, detergent or liver pill. What makes 'em think it okay to barge into homes all over the nation via the outside aerials?

Our guess is that most of the top executives
—the Mr. Bigs who make the final decisions—keep their TV sets up in the attic and don't bother to listen often. They adopt the attitude:
"My program must be terrific. It costs so much"
and let it go at that.

There is but one cure: Get all the big air-wave sponsors together and make 'em put in a whole evening listening to radio and TV.
They will come out convinced that there is a fortune in it for the first sponsor who names
the product briefly when the program opens and explains "We are out to make friends, not to lose them. Hence this brevity."

In the meantime how about outlawing the word "exciting" in all commercials? It's used to describe everything from turnip juice to a bun, teabag or auto motor. "I want to tell you of an exciting discovery," the pitchman says, and, just as you get all set to hear a new continent has been found or the top of a mountain explored, you hear it's a tomato sauce!
... The dictionary says, "Exciting—emotionally arousing; producing excitement." . . .
Maybe so, but we have never been emotionally aroused by a detergent, a floor wax or a salad oil.

"I will never cross-examine anybody over such a period as Senator McCarthy cross-examined Mr. Stevens." . . . Joseph Welch.
... Okay, but even a casual inspection of the full record shows that Mr Stevens was repeatedly off the stand, that more time was consumed by speeches and arguments than in questioning him on any one day, that the secretary himself prolonged his stay on the stand by long answers, and that record for
"Will you repeat that question?" was established during his examination.

A Pennsylvania judge has ruled that a man's face is his private property and that no photo of him may be taken legally without his consent. . . . This will cause little trouble in America. . . . We fight to be photographed and are apt to sue any photographer who overlooks us.

Reclamation Of Strip Mines Is Observed

LISBON — Tree-plantings and grass seedings on strip mine spoil banks were studied by a group of 25 Columbiana County farmers and conservation men, tramping over rough, wet country Tuesday.

The tour covered 14 farms in central and eastern Columbiana county where efforts have been made to level the mounds of earth for planting.

Floyd Lower, county farm agent, said that most coal mine operators are "doing a good job of reclaiming strip land."

handle sewage from the area southwest of the present corporation limits. The estimated cost, according to the report, including engineering and contingencies is $80,000.

Sewage Permit to Expire

Salem was placed under state orders to prepare and submit plans for a sewage system expansion early in 1952. At that time the Water Pollution Control Board granted the city a permit to continue its present system.

Extensions of that permit have been granted by the state over the intervening years until the present one which expires June 15.

Another extension of the permit, which the city has applied for, is contingent upon the city remitting to the board a general plan for necessary sewage treatment plant improvements in order to eliminate the regular by-passing of untreated sewage into the Middle Fork of Little Beaver and directly into Stone Mill Run.

In 1952 a sub-division was planned and approved by the city to be built northeast of Franklin St. in the vicinity of Grandview Cemetery.

Complaints Were Heard

The Lincoln Ave. sewer running southeast to Stone Mill Run was built some time prior to the turn of the century. Before the advent of the Franklin St. development it served only a few homes between Olive St. and Summit St. and apparently was unobjectionable.

Since the construction of the Franklin St. development the effluent from the Lincoln Ave. sewer after it enters Stone Mill Run has become so offensive that residents of the area near the run have registered complaints with the local and state health officials.

During the summer months when the natural flow in the run is very low or at times completely absent, the entire flow is raw sewage, the Pirnie survey shows.

Although the engineer's report contained no provision for assessing property owners for moving utilities along downtown State St., Solicitor W. J. Hunston, in reply to a question by Councilman R. M. Linder, said that according to the state attorney general's ruling, property owners could be assessed for that phase of the project also.

The cost per front foot quoted in the reports is the total cost. The expense to be borne by the merchants involved would be spread out over a period of 10 years.

The total cost of reconstructing State St. is estimated at between $80,000 and $100,000, exclusive of lighting and utility work. The state will pay a maximum of $80,000.

Park Funds Transferred

In other business last night Council passed a transfer ordinance appropriating $6,255 from the park fund to the labor and material fund to enable the Park Commission to operate the swimming pool at Centennial Park in anticipation of receiving income from the pool.

An ordinance transferring $1,228 from the general fund to the health department fund was referred to the finance committee after second reading.

Also referred to the finance committee after second reading was an ordinance providing for the hiring of a stenographer for Mayor Dean Cramer at a salary of $250 per month.

Wage Actions Taken

First reading was given to an ordinance authorizing an increase in salary to the Civil Service Commission secretary of $8 per month, from $13 to $21; and providing for a decrease in the salary of one of the three police department deskmen to $191.50 per month instead of $220.

The decrease was asked by the deskman who stated that his city income of $220 per month jeopardized a pension which he is receiving.

Council accepted a recommendation by the lighting committee for the installation of a light on Monroe St.

A letter from the Central Clinic, requesting that traffic be detoured on a street north of the hospital when the State St. project is begun, was referred to the traffic committee. The letter declared noise from the increase in traffic would be a nuisance to patients in the hospital, if traffic was detoured on 2nd St. as contemplated.

Council President James Aldom ordered that a letter from S. F. Sonnedecker, asking that an ordinance be passed prohibiting door-to-door peddling in the city, be returned to Sonnedecker, with instructions that the matter be prepared in ordinance form and re-submitted to Council for further consideration.

Bell Service Center To Be Constructed

COLUMBIANA — A service center for the Ohio Bell Telephone Co. to serve a considerable area in Northeastern Ohio will be built by the G. & W. Co. of Ravenna, which has bought from Clyde Hoover his vacant lot on S. Vine St.

The Ravenna company will erect a concrete block building and lease the property to the telephone company.

The site fronts 120 feet on the west side of Vine St., just south of Columbiana village equipment garage, with an east-west alley between. It extends back 180 feet.

The building will cover a ground area of approximately 65x120 feet. It will house an office and a large fleet of trucks and equipment. No shop work will be done in the building.

A site on Pittsburgh St. was originally selected but the plan was abandoned. The site finally chosen is termed much more adaptable and more readily accessible. Work on the building will be started soon.

McCarthy

calls had not been given to Jenkins, Army counsel Joseph N. Welch said production of some had been barred by a presidential order.

The President's order forbids disclosure of talks strictly between administration officials.

The Subcommittee finally decided to ask Atty. Gen. Brownell whether the presidential order does in fact bar the calls in question.

Cohn said a call between Secretary Stevens and Maj. Gen. Kirke B. Lawton on Oct. 2, 1953, was considered by him "one of the most relevant things in these proceedings."

Cohn also said the McCarthy side would demand that calls between Stevens and Army counsel John G. Adams on Nov. 24-25 be included in the monitored calls before any of them are made public.

Cohn and McCarthy both insisted they would not consent to make any of the calls public unless all of them are. Cohn said there must be "no selection, no withholding of calls we consider very, very relevant to our side."

Sen. McClellan (D-Ark.) said that if the President's order is interpreted as barring release of the calls, the subcommittee should seek a special waiver "so we can get them on the public record."

Before the hearing resumed for this 25th day, Sen. McCarthy told reporters he will "insist" that Sen. Flanders (R-Vt.) be called to repeat under oath his assertions that McCarthy is "dividing the communists" and helping the communists.

Flanders made these contentions in a Senate speech yesterday. Told of McCarthy's statement, Flanders said he would appear if called but that he could add nothing to what he said in his speech.

Flanders told his colleagues yesterday the subcommittee has not yet dug into the "real heart of the mystery" of McCarthy's row with Army officials. But he told newsmen later there would be "no point whatever" in his testifying.

The subcommittee is looking into charges by Army officials that McCarthy and Cohn exerted improper pressure in attempts to get favored Army treatment for Pvt. G. David Schine, a former subcommittee consultant.

Charged Schine "Hostage"

McCarthy and Cohn in turn have charged Secretary of the Army Stevens and Army Counselor John G. Adams with trying to use Schine as a "hostage" to head off the committee's hunt for alleged Communism in the Army.

Flanders, who suggested to the Senate that the inquiry group should probe the "relationship" between Cohn and Schine and find out if Cohn has some "hold" over McCarthy, said he had "no new information whatever to offer."

"I have no access to FBI files and no top-secret documents at my disposal," he said. "Everything I said came from the source that Will Rogers used to refer to when he said, 'All I know is what I read in the newspapers.'"

McCarthy replied in an interview the subcommittee ought to find out whether Flanders' statements about him and Cohn, his chief subcommittee counsel, were "manufactured out of thin air."

"I'm sick of these people who make charges and then say they have nothing to back it up," he declared. He had termed Flanders' speech "vicious and dishonest."

President Eisenhower generally endorsed a speech Flanders made March 9, in which the senator said McCarthy "by intention or through ignorance," was "doing his best to shatter" the Republican party.

Eisenhower said the next day he thought Flanders had done a service in pointing up the dangers of a party split.

Suggests Lie Tests

Yesterday, at one of the most explosive of the current subcommittee hearings, McCarthy suggested that his whole "hassle" with Army officials could be cleared up in 24 hours if all parties submitted to lie detector tests. He said he was willing to submit first before the TV cameras.

He had made the same suggestion before the hearings started, and in other investigations in which he has figured. The suggestion has never been adopted by a Senate committee.

The investigations subcommittee normally is headed by McCarthy, but he and Cohn have stepped from their roles during the current probe. Sen. Mundt (R-SD) has replaced McCarthy as temporary chairman.

The subcommittee seemed agreed it could not test the authenticity of a series of 11 memos on which McCarthy and his staff based their charges against Army officials.

Joseph N. Welch, special Army counsel, said he had the "deepest suspicions about the genuineness of the memos" — presumably meaning he suspected they had been written when the row came to a head instead of months earlier as the McCarthy camp said. The subcommittee ignored McCarthy's demand that Welch be sworn as a witness to back up his avowed doubts.

The subcommittee interrupted cross-examination of Cohn yesterday to call to the stand Mrs. Mary Driscoll, a divorcee from Wilmington, N.C., who is McCarthy's private secretary, to question her about the memos.

Mrs. Driscoll, dressed in blue, testified she assembled the memoranda, as they were dictated to her, in a file she marked "Investigations Committee." She said the file, kept in McCarthy's office, was started about Oct. 2, 1953, at a time when the controversy with Stevens was "a new subject."

Mrs. Driscoll said she never keeps her shorthand notebooks and added that in six years working for McCarthy, she never had occasion to go back to her notes.

Ray H. Jenkins, special subcommittee counsel, asked how she knew where to go to the files to get the memoranda since there must be much material about the "Investigations Committee."

"I can't tell you that — that is my way of filing," she replied. She testified that in the battle of getting ready copies for reporters when the memoranda were first distributed in mid-March, it was possible that the originals "may have gotten away" and only copies remained.

McCarthy sailed into Flanders after the Vermont senator had told the Senate that if McCarthy had been "in the pay of the Communists he couldn't have done a better job for them."

Flanders said that although both Cohn and Schine are Jews, McCarthy had inspired a "foreboding in our fellow citizens of Jewish blood and faith."

McCarthy said he had been "very patient with the senator from Vermont as he has engaged in his diatribes over the past number of weeks."

"I have felt that he is a nice, kind old gentleman," McCarthy said. "I wondered whether this has been a result of senility or viciousness."

"I say that in this statement on the Senate floor he does more than any man I have ever heard to inflame racial and religious bigotry. It is a vicious thing. It is a dishonest thing."

McCarthy said Flanders had "so often talked about waiving of senatorial immunity and coming out in the open and giving the facts," adding, "I think he should not be reluctant to do this."

Mr. And Mrs. Donald Miller Return From Honeymoon Trip

Having returned from a honeymoon trip to Montreal and Quebec, Canada, Donald Miller, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Miller of Kent, and his bride, the former Dolores Steffel, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Steffel of E. 3rd St., are making their home at 608 University Dr., Ext., in Kent.

Rev. Fr. Allen Simpson of St. Patrick Church in Kent was the celebrant for the nuptial High Mass which took place in St. Paul Church here Saturday morning, May 22, at 11 o'clock.

Mr. Steffel gave his daughter in marriage in the double ring service. The church organist, Miss Sara Colman, played the traditional melodies and was accompanied for Richard Hunt of Akron who sang, "Panis Angelicus," and "Ave Maria." As the bride knelt at the altar of the Blessed Virgin, Mr. Hunt sang, "On This Day Oh Beautiful Mother."

For her wedding the bride carried a white prayer book and white orchid and wore a string of pearls, the gift of the bridegroom. She was gowned in candlelight satin designed with Chantilly lace yoke and sleeves. The full skirt, inset with panels of lace, was complete with a cathedral train.

Miss Mary Steffel was her sister's maid of honor and Miss Patricia Steffel, another sister, was bride maid. Both attendants wore powder blue net over satin and their hats matched their costumes. Each carried pink roses in the colonial mode.

Flower girls, Donna Culler of Wadsworth, a cousin of the bride, and Theresa Steffel, of Raleigh, N.C., a niece, appeared in white nylon ruffled dresses and they carried baskets filled with yellow daisies.

William Sawyer of Kent was best man. Dwight Strayer of Kent served as usher. Altar boys were Billie Miller, brother of the bridegroom and Vincent Bober of Salem.

Powder blue lace, navy blue and white accessories and a corsage of pink roses made up the ensemble worn by Mrs. Steffel. Mr. Miller wore an iridescent rose-colored dress with yellow accessories and yellow roses.

The wedding breakfast took place at Horvath's Restaurant, and the reception later was in Slovak Hall where the newlyweds greeted 150 guests. Blue and white crepe paper and wedding bells were used as the decorative motif at the hall and a three-tiered wedding cake was served.

Out-of-town guests came from Youngstown, Sharon, Pa., Akron, Norwalk, Lansing, Mich., Cleveland, North Canton, Canton, Leetonia and Kent. Included were Mr. and Mrs. Jim Steffel and children from Raleigh, N.C. Mr. Steffel is a brother of the bride.

For traveling the bride chose a navy blue and white suit with white accessories and the orchid from her bridal bouquet.

Mrs. Miller was graduated from St. Paul School, from Salem High School and Salem Business College. She is employed in the paymaster's office of Firestone Tire and Rubber Co. in Akron. Mr. Miller attended St. Patrick School and graduated from Roosevelt High School in Kent. He is an employee of the Ohio Bell Telephone Co.

Contests Scheduled At Butler Grange

The Butler Grange meeting Wednesday evening in the hall was presided over by Oliver Conser, master.

The baking and sewing contest was scheduled for Wednesday, June 23, with the women to compete in baking a banana nut bread and sewing a one-piece housedress.

Pearl Brown and Myrtle Altenhof were named to the card committee for the month of June. Reports were given concerning the bowling tournament the grangers participated in at Huron recently, and grange ball games were discussed. Lunch was served and a good time party enjoyed.

Novices May Win Ribbons In Flower Show

Mrs. George F. Jones of the Salem Garden Club and Mrs. Oren Naraog of the Garden Study Club are co-chairmen of the Salem Flower Show, to be held June 16 at the Masonic Temple. Mrs. Jones, in the following article, gives some timely tips to amateur gardeners to help them enter the exhibit and probably win some prizes.

Have you ever gone to a flower show and wondered why one rose was awarded a blue ribbon and another one wasn't? Have you ever said to yourself, "I have better roses (or delphinium, or iris) at home! My flowers are better than these!" Have you ever wanted to enter a flower show and didn't know how?

If you have, the following suggestions may help you know how to exhibit your specimen blooms, and how to judge the ones you will see at the show.

The average gardener, experienced or amateur, fails first of all, to comply with the exact requirements of the schedule.

For instance, if a schedule calls for "a collection of roses, not less than three blooms nor more than five," and you take two or six (because they are so lovely), the judge has no alternative but to disqualify that entry, even though it may have the finest blooms on the table. If the schedule calls for "Hybrid tea, 1 bloom, named variety," and the name does not accompany the entry, it is disqualified.

Since there is a growing interest in the exhibiting of specimen blooms, it is well to know the scale of points used by the judges of any show:

Form	25
Substance	20
Color	20
Stem and Foliage	20
Size	10
Total	100

Flowers selected for showing should be cut in advance, at least the night before the show and hardened in deep water. Specimen blooms of hybrid teas must have been grown disbudbed.

Evidence of recent disbudbing will be penalized half the score for stems. At the time of judging, an exhibition rose should be one half to three fourths open (buds are specimens less than one third open). The stem should be adequate to hold the bloom upright above the foliage without undue bending.

Foliage should be adequate in size for the stem and bloom. Insect or disease injury or unsightly dust or spray residue are considered faults.

COMPLETES COURSE

Ronald E. Jones, 18, of MC 1, Salem, has been awarded a diploma for completion of a residential training program in television and radio servicing from the DeVRY Technical Institute of Chicago. Ronald is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Edmund H. Jones.

Katherine Avon Earley Becomes Bride Of Virgil Edward Domer

Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Edward Domer didn't reveal their honeymoon destination when they left following their wedding and reception Sunday in the Sebring United Presbyterian Church.

The bride, Katherine Avon Earley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Lewis Earley of the Sebring Pine Lake Road, and the bridegroom, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Lester B. Domer of Hartsville, pledged their vows in the double ring service performed at 2:30 p.m. by Rev. Fulton C. Kissick, church pastor.

Palms and tall tapers in candelabra made an effective setting for the nuptials. John Hammond Jr. of North Benton sang "Because and Through the Years." During the ceremony he sang, "The Lord's Prayer." Mrs. Olga Schenk of Alliance presided at the organ.

Nylon flowered net over white skinner satin was used in the bride's princess style gown. A jewel necklace enhanced the fitted bodice and the sleeves were tapering. The fully-fashioned skirt, in floor length, was marked with insets of lace, and triple tiered ruffles.

Her sweetheart seed pearl tiara held in place her fingertip veil of Chantilly lace with lace inserts. She carried an orchid corsage on her mother's Eastern Star Bible.

Miss Marilyn Earley, sister of the bride, and Miss Jo-Ann Bichsel were co-maids of honor. Their waltz-length strapless gowns were patterned alike in pastel shades, complete with nylon net shawls. The triple ruffled skirts were over skinner satin. The colonial bouquets they carried were of variegated pastel colored flowers.

Their braided halo hats of tulle were trimmed with flower clusters. Diana Domer of Hartsville, a niece of the bridegroom, was flower girl. She carried a miniature colonial nosegay in contrast with her pale blue brocade nylon dress trimmed with white nylon lace.

Betty Earley, brother of the bride, and David Smith, foster brother of the bride, were ring bearers. They carried matching pillows for the rings. One of the pillows was carried at the wedding of the bride's parents in 1931.

Lavern Domer of Hartville was best man for his brother, Wayne Domer of Canton, another brother, and Albert Batya of Canton, a brother-in-law, were ushers.

Mrs. Earley wore a navy blue summer suit with white accessories and pink and white carnations. Mrs. Domer appeared in a bronze silk dress with white accessories and a carnation corsage.

The reception took place in the church parlor immediately following the ceremony. A three-tiered cake was the centerpiece between double candelabra and orchid and white flowers.

Mrs. Fred Weizenecker of Beloit was in charge of the reception. The bride's great aunt, Miss Avon Earley of Alliance, Joan Earley, Jean Earley and Sunny Earley, sister of the bride, were hostesses. Miss Rachel Oesch and Mrs. Paul Bayless of Damascus, aunts of the bride, took care of the gifts.

Mrs. Merlen Stanley of Damascus, Mrs. Robert Hoopes and Mrs. Jerd Oesch of Berlin Center assisted. Miss Lois Earley, cousin of the bride, took charge of the guest book.

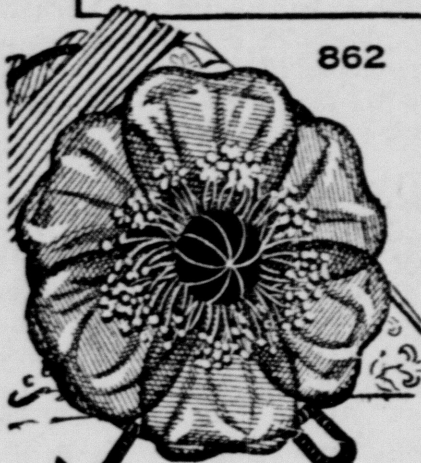

Guests were present from Canton, Hartville, Berlin Center, Sebring, Damascus, Beloit, Salem and Pittsburgh. An honored guest was Mrs. Ed Boemig of Pittsburgh, sorority sister of the bride's mother. Congratulations were received from Mrs. William MacPherson and Mrs. Grace Crumrine, maternal grandmother and aunt in St. Petersburg, Fla.

When the bride left on the honeymoon trip, she wore a white brocade cotton summer suit with light blue wool topper and the orchid from her bouquet.

Mrs. Domer was graduated from Beloit High School and attended Mount Union College where she was affiliated with Alpha Delta Pi Sorority. She has been employed in the office at McCaskey Register Co. Mr. Domer graduated from Hartville High School and attended Akron University before his enlistment in the navy. He is stationed aboard the U. S. S. Bobolink at Panama City, Fla., where they will make their home.

Letter To Joe College

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—An open letter to Mr. Joseph College, Class of 1954, U.S.A.:
Dear Joe:
Leaving the ivory tower this year, you come into a world that has lost the ivy of the past.
A vast and visible vista lies before you that holds a greater peace or a deeper agony than mankind has ever faced before.

Before your present crew cut wears into baldness the issue will be settled. This crumbling dream you see now will firm into an achieved vision, or fragment into a nightmare chaos—and, as it goes, the credit or blame will largely come to you.
For whatever security you have known you come to breathless problems. It is your task to jick up the terrible broken mirror of "now" and try to make it reflect a better world.

It's a great challenge... it's your opportunity... And I'm glad it is yours. My generation took up the mirror in its turn, and, I regret to say for all its efforts, must still hand it to you cracked and considerably fogged.

Time... time... time... that impartial leveler... reaches to reduce or exalt you with ancient troubles before the ink is dry on your sheepskin, before your mother—crying for all the difficulty it caused the family to get you educated—can wet it with exultant tears, secret or public.

Now you are a man, with a certificate that says so, in a time that's about as fortunate, or unfortunate, as any. At least it's a great thing to get a college degree in a time when there still are many jobs waiting.

If some industry doesn't want you—well, Uncle Samuel does. You may think that a forgotten course in the history of early Roman band instruments or a nodding acquaintance with Caesar's Gallic campaigns was a waste of classroom time.

Perhaps so, perhaps not. The discipline of learning, however carelessly and lightheartedly taken, however seriously accepted, does measure a reward in later life. At the very worst, the college graduates who were in the last World War never had to fight a hill in Europe that wasn't there when Caesar lived. Whatever you learned, however you learned it, you will sometime find a use for.

With the exception of a very few minded elders feel they must stamp the minds of their offspring with the average American university offers no more than a pleasant doorway to knowledge. Then you bust your foot through and around the door the rest of your life. That's living!

It is highly unlikely, if you move boldly into a growing world, that 25 years from now you will have more than one or two close friends from the yearning days you are now leaving. It is highly unlikely that you will ever have in your life more than two close friends. Friends don't grow on clothes trees; nor are they born in easy times.

You are coming, full of the juice of youth, into the great cider press of time and age. It will squeeze you, as it has millions of men before you.

Whether you come out of college with 10 million family dollars behind you, or just a boy owing fines to the college library, you'll be squeezed and hurt—arguing with a wife in Palm Beach, selling chemicals in Dubuque, peddling bonds in Wall Street, trying to cure some boy in Phoenix, or hoping to hold a hill in, well, any country where they blow the bugle and set up a flag you live by.

Looking back across 25 years, Joe, I feel you've got one big advantage. There is a place in the world for you, and, whatever you have learned, the rest of the world desperately needs it.

This crumbling dream... is yours to put a foundation under. Yesterday you were the hope of tomorrow. Now you are the purpose of today.

Make a better world, Joe. It's worth the groan it takes. And one of those who would like to live in and enjoy it is,

Your friend,
Hal Boyle

Virginia Dairymen
Are Visitors Here

Dairying was no doubt an interesting topic of conversation when Dr. F. R. Crowgey was host to his brother and two other prominent Virginia dairymen at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Crowgey over the weekend.

Guests included Dr. Crowgey's brother, L. J. Crowgey of Wytheville, Va., L. Aubrey Drewry of Hollins College, Va., and Harold W. Craun of Roanoke, Va.

Mr. Crowgey recently received recognition by the Holstein-Friesian Association of America by qualifying for the Progressive Breeders' Award. He is one of three persons in Virginia to be so recognized.

The last production test of the Crowgey Herd Improvement Registry program was completed April 30, 1953, with the 26-cow herd averaging 13,611 pounds of milk and 522 pounds of butterfat in 313 days on two milkings daily. The herd scored 84.1 for type classification.

Mr. Craun is president of the Virginia Holstein-Friesian Club. Mr. Drewry, secretary - treasurer of the club, is also an award winner.

City Drops Golf Course
After Negro Petition

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. — This city is getting out of the golfing business. City Council decided to do this after a long study of a petition from Negroes for use of the course.

Council action yesterday to terminate the lease on Pasadena golf course and turn the 18-hole course back to its private owners was unanimous.

In April a group of Negroes sought permission to play on the course. A special committee was named to study the petition.

Last week the committee heard predictions from its members and city officials that white players would stop using the course if it were opened to Negroes.

The committee meeting was after the U. S. Supreme Court ordered the city of Houston, Tex., to open its municipal golf courses to Negroes on a segregated basis.

Sales Tax Stamps Get
'New Look' Shortly

COLUMBUS, Ohio — Sales tax stamps in Ohio will have a new look in the next month or two—and it's aimed at vendors who chisel on consumer tax receipts. Tax Commissioner Stanley J. Bowers said the new stamp will read:

Always obtain from vendor State of Ohio prepaid sales tax consumer's receipt on all taxable purchases." Bowers said the new message will "educate the tax-paying public to the fact that the cancellation of the stamp is the means provided by law whereby the tax paid by the consumer gets into the state treasury." Bowers said some vendors have not been tearing off the customer's half of the stamp.

20 Salem Trackmen Awarded Varsity Letters Tuesday

Lipp Elected 1955 Captain

Awards Climax Best Season In Years

Letters and awards presented at an assembly Tuesday at the high school climaxed one of the most successful Salem High School track seasons in many years.

This season, after dropping their first two dual meets of the year, the locals won two consecutive dual affairs by healthy 50-point margins, took first in the county meet, a surprising second in the tough Canton Two-Light Relays, fifth in the district, and tied for 30th in the state.

The 11 who qualified for the Columbus state finals comprised the largest representation this school has had there in many seasons.

High points of the year were the thrilling victory in the county meet and the second place at Canton. In addition, three all-time SHS records were established this year—Bob Sebo in the low hurdles, and both relay teams.

Jack Alexander came within one inch of the high jump record and Dan Kendzierski, in his first year out for track, missed the all-time shot put mark by two inches.

HIGHLIGHTING YESTERDAY'S assembly was the announcement that Junior Bill Lipp had been elected as next year's captain by the returning lettermen. The bespectacled distance runner has been a track and cross-country star during three years at school.

Another feature of the assembly was the presentation of two trophies to the school by this year's captain, Jerry Martin. The trophies are from the county meet, one for capturing the 880-relay and a big one for winning the meet.

Track Coach Frank J. Tarr presented 20 varsity letters plus one varsity manager's award. Of the 20, nine will be graduated this spring, leaving a healthy 11-man nucleus for next spring. In addition, Tarr handed out seven reserve letters, two reserve manager's presentations, and seven fresh numerals.

In his opening remarks Tarr said "I was proud to be associated with the fine group of boys we had this year." He also paid tribute to Faculty Manager Fred Cope for his assistance and efforts this past season.

The senior lettermen include Martin, Kendzierski, Bob Sebo, Bill Herman, Bill Megert, John Chester, John Baker, Joe Hajcak and Dave Wiggers.

Fowler To Hurl For Reds Against Simmons

CINCINNATI (AP) — Art Fowler, who has been the best of a sub-par Cincinnati pitching staff, will have his work cut out for him tonight when the Redlegs open a 13-game stand against the Philadelphia Phillies.

His pitching opponent will be Curt Simmons, Simmons, one of the National League's top pitchers this season, usually doesn't allow many runs.

Fowler has a 4-0 record and in view of some of his past performances tonight's battle with the Phils could be quite a hurling duel.

Tonight's contest will be the first of a two-game series with the Phils. The New York Giants, Pittsburgh Pirates and the Brooklyn Dodgers follow them into Crosley Field in that order.

OUT OF DOORS with Field & Stream

By R. L. LIDE

If there is any doubt in anyone's mind that Guilford Lake has a fish shortage than all you have to do is go out and witness the fish removal project.

Only small bluegills, crappies, along with gizzard shad, suckers and carp are being removed. So far each day's operation has yielded an average of 511 pounds.

The bass, large bluegills and crappies are being returned to the water. There has been a total of 34,704 fish removed, weighing 4,704 pounds. And the operation has just begun.

Eight hundred fifty-three pounds of shad were taken on the 31st. They are filling up the nets since warm weather has set in.

One walleye pike of 9½ in. was taken. This proves conclusively that all the pike stocked last year has not disappeared. No doubt there were others in the nets but the mesh is too large to hold them since they are an elongated fish.

RUSSELL M. MILLER of Turle Creek, Pa., tops the list in the fishing contest sponsored by Ruby's.

Browns' Dub Jones Quits Pro Football

CLEVELAND (AP) — The Cleveland Browns announced today that William (Dub) Jones, 30-year-old halfback and a veteran of eight years with the club, is giving up pro football.

The Browns said Jones plans to devote full time to a lumber and building business in Ruston, La.

A star at Tulane University, Jones entered pro football in 1946 with the Miami Seahawks. He later was sent to the Brooklyn Dodgers and joined the Browns in 1948.

His retirement brings to five the number of Browns who have quit football since the close of last season. The others are Lin Houston, Bill Willis and George Young, all of whom were with the club when it was started in 1946, and Derrell Palmer.

An able substitute for Jones last season was Billy Reynolds, a rookie from Pittsburgh.

Cockell Beats Matthews; Eyes Bout For Title

LONDON (AP)—Don Cockell, British heavyweight champion who makes a specialty of defeating Americans, flies to New York in two weeks to scout the Rocky Marciano-Ezzard Charles fight but he hopes it won't be the last he'll see of Rocky in a fight ring.

Most sensible men wouldn't be caught dead in a ring with Marciano.

But after his successes against Roland La Starza in March and against Harry Matthews last night, Cockell is eager to take a shot at the world heavyweight crown. Last night's victory was more impressive than the Briton's split decision over Matthews last August in Seattle.

Cockell did himself and his Marciano project a lot of good in taking last night's 10-round decision from Matthews.

The onetime Battersea blacksmith was awarded the decision by Referee Jack Hart despite three low blows and a warning for hitting with his elbows. The referee is the only official in Britain.

Practically everyone agreed Cockell won with a distinct but not overwhelming edge. The Associated Press score card had the Briton winning five rounds, Matthews four and one even.

Midway of the scrap, Cockell, who weighed 210½ to Matthews' 180½, switched his attack from the American's body to his head and reared effectively. But Matthews finished stronger and toward the end Cockell's blows began to stray below the belt line.

Just as he did against La Starza, the British champion used his bulk to perfection. Matthews often was rocked back, not by Cockell's punches, but by the Briton's bull-like rushes.

Indians Get Vic Wertz In Trade For Chakales

To Be Used In Pinch Hit Role

Wynn to Oppose Reynolds Tonight

NEW YORK (AP)—Outfielder Vic Wertz will wear a Cleveland uniform tonight as the Indians open a three game series against the world champion New York Yankees.

The husky, 29-year-old Wertz won't be in the starting lineup, but there's a good chance he will be used as a pinch hitter. Until the Tribe obtained him from Baltimore last night in a straight trade for pitcher Bob Chakales, Cleveland had no longball hitting left hand pinch hitter.

Early Wynn, seeking his seventh victory against two defeats, will match his knuckle ball against the speed and cunning of the Yankees' veteran righthander, Allie Reynolds, who has won five and lost one.

Manager Al Lopez liked the Wertz Chakales deal, saying he thought "Vic can do us a lot of good."

"This fellow has been a real good ball player, and we're hoping that once he gets over here with us, he'll start to go again and help us a lot," Lopez said. "He hits a long ball and may give us some added scoring punch."

Wertz, when told of the trade-said: "I can't complain about getting a chance at some world series money. I only hope I can play regularly."

Lopez isn't figuring on using Wertz regularly—just now, at any rate.

"He's going to be good insurance in case anything happens to our other outfielders," Lopez said.

Dodgers Whip Braves 2-0, Cut Lead; Yankees, A's Win

Carter Is Favored Over Riley Tonight

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Ex-lightweight champion Jimmy Carter of New York rules a 3-1 favorite to take the measure of Chillin' Charley Riley in their scheduled 10-round bout at the St. Louis Arena tonight.

Carter is expected to weigh 135 pounds and Riley, 131.

The former champion is primed for the fight. He came here after five weeks of training in San Francisco for what he thought was a return shot at the lightweight crown with Paddy DeMarco. DeMarco's illness forced a postponement and Carter agreed to meet Riley here instead.

The CBS telecast is scheduled for 9 p. m., EST.

The 31-year-old Riley, who turned professional as a featherweight in 1944, has fought four world champions during his career but has been finding the competition tough lately.

In his last outing, the veteran St. Louis slugger lost a decision to Davey Moore of Springfield, Ohio. Carter, during his reign as lightweight champion, lost his title to Lauro Salas but won it back and defended it successfully six times before DeMarco beat him on a decision last winter.

The 30-year-old Carter has 26 knockouts to his credit while Riley has scored 34.

TUESDAY'S FIGHTS

By The Associated Press
LONDON — Don Cockell, 210½, England outpointed Harry Matthews, 180½, Seattle, 10.

Honus Wagner led the National League in hitting eight times. This is a league record.

balling right hander hasn't been able to buy a victory this spring.

He lost his fourth straight night, 2-0 to Brooklyn, as the Dodgers continued their 1953 habit of being the only visiting club to win regularly in Milwaukee. The defeat cut the Braves' first-place margin to four percentage points over Brooklyn.

Buhl came out of the minors and the Army last year to post a 13-8 record with the relocated Braves. During the winter he blazed through Caribbean competition to the tune of 14 and 3.

Came the major league spring training and Buhl was so far ahead of the hitters they couldn't get their bats off their shoulders fast enough to get a loud foul. He hasn't been bad, but just not good enough. He has started seven games and has been lifted every time.

The Milwaukee-Brooklyn game was the only action in the National League yesterday as rain brought postponements of St. Louis at Chicago and New York at Pittsburgh.

In the American League Philadelphia walloped Boston 16-6, New York defeated Washington 9-3 and Detroit edged Baltimore 4-3. Baltimore fell to last place.

Billy Cox scored the two Brooklyn runs. He walked in the third inning and moved around on a sacrifice by Russ Meyer and a single by Pee Wee Reese. In the fifth he singled, was again moved to second by Meyer and scored on a single by Junior Gilliam.

Just when the Red Sox thought they were set to go places with a three-game winning streak the lowly Philadelphia Athletics came aroused and battered the Bostonians all over Fenway Park. Gus Zernial hit his 10th and 11th homers and drove in six runs. Bob Trice joined in the fun with a home run and double in winning his fifth game.

Bob Grim, the only rookie pitcher to stick with the Yankees this season, held Washington hitless through the last five innings and scored his fifth success. Hank Bauer had a perfect afternoon, collecting three walks, a home run and a single and driving in four runs.

The Orioles staged enough of a rally to get rid of Ralph Branca in the eighth but not enough to keep the former Brooklyn right hander from winning his third straight game for the Tigers. Detroit collected 10 hits off three Baltimore pitchers.

Orioles' Gate Drops as Team Reaches Cellar

BALTIMORE (AP)—The Baltimore Orioles have crept back into the cellar again and their attendance, which is the main item of interest in the American League this first season, has been dropping with them.

The gate still is good, a total of 399,006 for an average of 19,950 on 20 home dates. That's more than the club drew in St. Louis all last season and also more than paid to see the Philadelphia Athletics in 1953.

But when the season started, the Baltimore goal was 1,800,000, which takes an average of 29,000. The Baltimore average dropped below 20,000 for the first time yesterday.

Many feel that the period between Memorial Day and the Fourth of July will be crucial.

They figure attendance was high before that because of the novelty of big league baseball in Baltimore for the first time in 52 years.

Also, a few weeks ago the Orioles were in an exalted fifth place. They've lost 12 of their last 14 games. Last night, they lost their eighth out of 10 to Detroit, one of the teams they were figured to at least battle on even terms.

The question now before the league is whether the Baltimore fans are going to be patient and wait to see the results of rebuilding that has been promised them.

Art Ehlers, the Oriole general manager, demonstrated yesterday he won't wait around for the old St. Louis Browns to come through. He traded Vic Wertz, the disappointing slugging outfielder, for Bob Chakales, a comparatively young pitcher on the Cleveland Indians.

Wertz was able to hit only 202 in the spacious Memorial Stadium and has been riding the bench lately. The Indians have used Chakales in only three games and he was credited with two victories and no decision in the other.

BATTING — Gus Zernial, Philadelphia Athletics, hit two home runs and drove in six runs as Philadelphia defeated Boston 16-6.

Indianapolis Wins 2, Takes 5-Game Lead

By The Associated Press
Herb Score and Howie Rodemeyer pitched Indianapolis to a double victory over Kansas City last night, 7-2 and 5-1, to give the Indians a five-game lead in the American Association.

Louisville remained in second place with an 8-7 victory over Toledo. In other games Minneapolis beat St. Paul 11-3 and Columbus defeated Charleston 7-1.

Score, winning his seventh game against one loss, pitched a six-hitter in the Indians' first-game win.

Columbus pounded out 16 hits enroute to its win over Charleston. The Red Birds got five of their runs in the second inning. A double by Eddie Lyons, a triple by Gerry Thomas and singles by Steve Stephenson, Jackie Lee, Mo Mozale and Ben Downs figured in the big frame.

House Probe Of Foundations Brings Reece-Hays Dispute

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House investigation of tax-exempt foundations isn't likely to take the television play away from the Senate hearings on the McCarthy-Army row but it's a hot potato all by itself.

Prime mover in this investigation is Rep. B. Carroll Reece (R-Tenn.), who was Southern manager for the late Sen. Robert A. Taft's campaign for the Republican presidential nomination in 1952. One of the Democrats on Reece's committee, Rep. Wayne L. Hays of Ohio, was against this investigation before it started and has been critical ever since.

Although Reece said in a couple of speeches in 1953 that the majority of foundations — the biggest are Ford and Rockefeller — are honestly run, he said he is suspicious of some of them.

Among the suspects, he said, "lies the story of how communism and socialism are financed in the United States." He made no distinction between them. He said communism is socialism's brand name.

He complained too many foundation grants in education were for the "propagation of the so-called liberal viewpoint" or openly communistic viewpoints while the conservative view was being overlooked.

Therein lay the "nubbin" of Reece's desire for the investigation, said Rep. Jacob Javits (R-Lib-NY). Last July 27 Reece pleaded with the House to set up a special committee to look into foundations. It did.

Reece was made chairman. His committee has three Republicans and two Democrats. Between last July and mid-May, when public hearings started, Reece's staff gathered material for the inquiry.

In his July speech Reece cocked a critical eye on the Ford Foundation, set up by the heirs of Henry Ford. He was especially incensed that it had granted 15 million dollars for a study of civil liberties and the way congressional committees conduct investigations.

This money was to be handled by an organization called the Fund for the Republic. A few days after Reece attacked the fund, Rep. Clifford P. Case (R-NJ) resigned from Congress to be its president.

Recently Case resigned from the fund to run for the Senate in New Jersey. He is being succeeded by Robert M. Hutchins, former chancellor of the University of Chicago. Hutchins several years ago became associate director of the Ford Foundation.

Reece, apparently, doesn't like Hutchins any more than he likes the Fund for the Republic. Under MEDICAL ALLY — The African greater honeyguide may aid medical researchers in cracking the wax armor of the tubercle bacillus which makes the white plague germ immune to most chemical treatments. The honeyguide is one of two living creatures that can digest wax. Some of the birds, arranged for by Dr. Herbert Friedmann, curator of birds at the Smithsonian Institution, will be flown in from Africa. Researchers at the Army Medical Center in Washington, D. C., will study the birds to determine what makes this digestion possible.

Hutchins, Reece said, the University of Chicago set a record — five times — for being investigated for "immoral or subversive activities."

The major part of Reece's July speech was concentrated on the Ford Foundation, of which he said: "Here is the last of the great American industrial fortunes, amassed in a competitive free marketplace in the last 50 years, being used to undermine and subvert our institutions."

Hays came to the defense of the Ford Foundation for granting money for study of civil liberties and congressional investigations. He said he thought any individual or foundation had a right to make such a study.

Norman Dodd, the Reece committee's research director, said on May 11 special attention should be paid to the Ford Foundation in this inquiry.

Hays demanded a probe of Facts Forum Foundation, created by H. L. Hunt, wealthy Texas oil man and supporter of Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis). Facts Forum supports a series of radio and TV discussion programs which Hunt says he promotes as impartial debates to arouse public interest in current problems. Critics have attacked them as a political propaganda machine giving major weight to conservatism and isolationism.

Columbus Studies Hiring Negro Prep Teachers

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — City school superintendent Novice G. Fawcett yesterday said the hiring of Negro teachers in the capital city's high schools is being studied and "will be considered in the light of its acceptability to the community."

Barbe William Durham, executive secretary of the local National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People (NAACP), attacked what he said was the city's policy of not hiring Negro high school teachers. Fawcett denied such a policy existed. He said at present there is "a visiting Negro teacher" at one high school.

Durham told the board, "There is much in the history of Columbus public schools that has played a part in racial segregation."

Fawcett told a reporter there are Negro teachers here in grade and junior high schools and all Negro teachers at one junior high school attended solely by Negro children. The school receives its students, he said, from a colored residential district.

He didn't elaborate on his statement about "acceptability to the community."
